Meet Easy

Where Samsung has the monitor, Logitech has the mouse, keyboard, headset and webcam for the perfect personal workplace. Where Logitech has the Video Conferencing solution for every size of meeting room, Samsung has the right display.

Logitech and Samsung fit together like matching puzzle pieces. “Just like the perfect marriage, we compliment each other, making each other even better. We both develop products of high quality, that are easy to use, install and maintain. Our collaboration is a perfect fit”.

Together Logitech and Samsung have created special bundles for the personal workplace and for meeting rooms. The purpose of the bundles is to help both end-customers and resellers to ease the orientation process, and offer solutions that work.

In this document you will find the workplace and meeting room bundles we created for you. Please contact your Logitech or Samsung account manager if you have any questions.

Samsung

Samsung is the premier leader in display technology and is continually stretching technology further into the future. This is evident in our stunning (curved) screens with pristine images and the most realistic colors that are manufactured today.

Samsung's monitor range is all about evolving the way you work, helping you achieve the highest possible standard. Whether it will be through a large wide display or multi-monitor set-up for a truly expansive view, or the perfect picture quality for peak performance thanks to a higher resolution. The line-up stretches from flat to curved panels, FHD to QHD resolution, and there are monitors that have USB-C power and USB docking solutions to 5K resolution.

Logitech

The right tools are needed to deliver the best possible work, whether you are at home or in the office. Now that video communication is more important than ever, the right webcam and headset have become your work essentials. A conversation where people are heard poorly and not seen properly, can be frustrating and is time consuming. A call with the right video communication tools can be just as good as a real-life meeting.

When people work from their laptop and are not equipped with a good monitor, keyboard and mouse, physical complaints can easily arise.

Using an external keyboard and mouse can help to create an ergonomic workspace, so people stay healthy and happy.
